

Introduction to patient and public involvement in research

One-day workshop with lunch provided

Who the workshop is for

Beginners (people who are new to the active involvement of patients and the public in research)

What the workshop covers

This workshop will cover some of the theory of involvement. There will also be an emphasis on the practical aspects of how to involve patients and the public, and a chance to think about how to do this in the context of your research.

Objectives of the workshop

This workshop will help you to:

- Build your understanding of patient & public involvement in research
- Begin involving patients and public in your research
- Develop involvement activities in a meaningful manner
- Learn from other participants about what works in specific contexts